Decision Rendered In Unusual Will of Prof. Ellen Hayes

Surrogate George F. Kaufman has rendered down a decision in the matter of the last will and testament of Ellen Hayes, deceased, which is unusually interesting, not only on account of the points of testamentary law involved, but because of the views held by the testatrix as expressed in her will.

Following is Surrogate Kaufman's decision in full:

DECISION
In the Matter of the petition of Stanley W. Hayes to obtain a determination as to the validity, construction or effect of dispositions of property contained in the last Will and Testament of Ellen Hayes, deceased, etc.

Proceeding to construe a will. Wiswall, Walton, Wood & McFarlane, (C. Willard Rice of counsel), Attorneys for Executor.

Hayes, St. John, Abramson & Schulman, (Arthur Garfield Hayes and Alan S. Hayes of counsel), Attorneys for Arthur Garfield Hayes and others.

G. D. B. Hasbrouck, Special Guardian.

(Decided Feb. 24, 1933.)

This proceeding strikingly illustrates the risk which persons not versed in the law, even though highly educated otherwise, take in drawing their own wills. Ellen Hayes, the testatrix, was for many years Professor of Astronomy and Applied Mathematics in Wellesley College and attained considerable distinction in educational fields. In 1923 she published a book called "How Do You Know," which contains a chapter entitled "Words and Their Meaning." Thereafter she wrote her will which, ironically enough, is now the subject of bitter controversy in this Court as to its meaning.

Omitting the preamble and testamentary clause and paragraph 1 which devises a small parcel of real property to two nephews of the testatrix, which are now in dispute, the controverted will reads as follows:

"II. My lots in East Washington Park, D. C., are to be sold and the net value in cash deposited with my bankbooks now held by the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company. The numbers and location of these lots will be found recorded with the Registrar of Deeds of the District of Columbia."

"III. My home in Wellesley, Mass., consisting of dwelling-house and thirty-nine thousand (39,000) feet of land more or less to be sold at the earliest available time and the results of this sale added to moneys already in charge of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company."

"IV. My property in West Park, N. Y., consisting of several acres of land, and a new dwelling-house, the Sycamore, I leave to my friend, Louise Brown, for her sole use and convenience, during her life-time. If at the end of that time, the school known as the Vineyard Shore School for Women Workers in Industry, shall have become duly incorporated with a responsible board of trustees, the property shall pass into the hands of this board. Failing incorporation, the entire place shall be offered for sale, and the proceeds passed into the hands of Roger Baldwin, and Harry F. Ward and Arthur Garfield Hayes who shall make this a permanent fund from which only the interest shall be spent for such objects as they deem worthy. Provided that under no circumstances while the school has control of the property is any man, single or married, to occupy for residence, the Sycamore or other domestic buildings on the aforesaid property for a longer or shorter time so long as one stick of the Sycamore remains nailed to another. This building is solely for the use of female students of the Vineyard Shore School and women members of the faculty."

"V. (a) From the fund above mentioned in charge of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company, I desire my executor, Stanley Wolcott Hayes, to administer two thousand dollars ($2,000) to each of my sisters, Anna Hayes Hollister and Marjutta Hayes Wallace in payments of two hundred dollars ($200) each per annum per person."

"(b) One thousand dollars ($1,000) outright payment to the Free Press Association Ltd., 628 Johnson's Court, Fleet Street, London. This is to be paid in one flat sum to the treasurer of the F. P. A."

"(c) One thousand dollars, (1,000) to the Free Thought Press Association, 250 West 54th Street, New York."

"(d) Any remainder after these bequests have been made, I leave to Arthur Garfield Hayes to use at his discretion in promoting the ends of justice."

"VI. I do not wish any funeral services—music or flowers; though if the students will sing one stanza of the International, I should like it. You will find a silk traveling gown in the middle bureau drawer. Get the cheapest and plainest wooden box. Immediately upon death, notify Doctor Howard P. Carpenter of the State Hospital in Poughkeepsie, who is hereby authorized to take full charge of my brain and body in accordance with a letter of instructions to me from Doctor Florence R. Sablin, dated October 22, 1930."

"VII. I nominate Stanley Wolcott Hayes of Richmond, Indiana, to be the executor of this my will, and a request that he be exempted from giving a surety or securities on his official bonds."

"And I do solemnly request my

Emergency Banking Laws Enacted In Several States

(By The Associated Press)

Banks in Pennsylvania and Ohio opened for business today fortified by emergency legislation passed since the close of business yesterday.

By a resolution enacted and signed at midnight, Pennsylvania banks received power to regulate withdrawals with the approval of the state banking secretary. The restrictions, it was provided, will not apply to deposits made after a bank invokes the emergency powers.

Ohio passed two laws giving the superintendent of banks unprecedented powers to control withdrawals and slash red tape in liquidation or reopening of closed banks. The laws provide protection for new depositors. Several banks in the state joined the list restricting withdrawals, bringing the number taking such action in Ohio to more than 100.

In some other states, too, moves were made to strengthen the banking situation. In Little Rock and North Little Rock, Ark., banks restricted withdrawals. The Delaware legislature passed a bill empowering the banking commissioner to suspend or postpone payment of accounts if he deems it necessary.

Five banks in Covington, Ky., across the river from Cincinnati, decided to limit withdrawals to five per cent a month. In Michigan the bookkeeping task involved in getting the two new Ford-backed banks in operation was going ahead, with clerks working in shifts around the clock in an effort to segregate the 1,700,000 accounts that are to be transferred to the new banks. It had been hoped the banks would be opened tomorrow, but the bookkeeping task may necessitate a delay.

Proposed legislation in Maryland remained in the hands of two committees, one of Representative Citizens and one from the Association of Commerce. Gov. Ritchie stated that while speed is desired, he is even more anxious to provide a measure which represents the best thought of everybody on the subject.

Pennsylvania Avoids Banking Moratorium

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 28 (AP).—A moratorium avoided by swift legislative action. Pennsylvania banks have the right to regulate deposit withdrawals.

With the approval of the secretary of banking, individual banks are permitted to fix the percentage depositors may check out of accounts existing prior to today or any future date on which the banks may ask for the emergency power.

Deposits made after banking institutions have obtained this authority are not subject to restriction. They must be kept in separate one-hundred per cent liquid accounts subject to withdrawal in full on demand.

Banking Plan.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 28 (AP).—The plan adopted by Pennsylvania to avoid a bank moratorium provides: Individual banks may curtail withdrawals from accounts existing prior to yesterday or (when the action is taken in the future) prior to the date of the decision to use the emergency power.

They must apply to the secretary of banking who is given emergency power to refrain from closing such institutions for failure to meet in full the liabilities of such accounts.

They may make payments of these accounts on a percentage approved by the secretary.

They must keep in separate and fully liquid accounts all deposits made after they take advantage of the emergency authority.

They may pay in full on demand all deposits of the latter class.

Ohio Restricts Bank Withdrawals

Columbus, O., Feb. 28 (AP).—Restriction of withdrawals from Ohio banks was sanctioned by law today.

Two new statutes clothed the state banking superintendent with unprecedented power to apply the restriction where necessary.

Meanwhile, more than 150 banks operated on a curtailed basis. Either they had anticipated the new measures or applied for permission to limit withdrawals as soon as the laws became effective.

Those banks which had imposed the restriction in advance were given formal approval for their action.

The legislation was enacted quickly after Governor George White presided last night. He signed the bills immediately.

Baltimore, Feb. 28 (AP).—Proposed legislation for covering the banking situation in Maryland after the close of the governor's proclamation for a holiday, remained in committee today.

Saying it has been impossible to complete the draft of the proposed bill for submission to the general assembly, Governor Albert C. Ritchie asserted early today that although "the utmost speed is essential" the production of "a measure which represents the best thought of everybody on the subject is even more important."

Checks for Relief Workers Thursday

Emergency Relief workers employed to remove snow from the streets Saturday and Sunday will be paid at the work bureau office, 83-85 Smith avenue Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Treasury Receipts.

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP).—Treasury receipts for February 25 were $2,338,297.36; expenditures, $15,826,117.74; balance, $255,701.46. Customs duties for 25 days of February were $14,730,935.23.

New Type of Court Calendar Issued To Save Expenses

Beginning with the March term of supreme court a new style of calendar has been printed which is designed to save the taxpayers of the county a considerable sum each year in printing bills. In the past it has been the custom to re-print each term the entire calendar of some 500 cases. This procedure was an expense to the taxpayers since the filing fee of fifty cents for each case printed in the calendar failed to pay for the printing cost. The fee once paid kept the case on the calendar until final disposition was made of the matter.

Last year the fees received for filing amounted to $261.50 and the cost of printing calendars was over $1,200. The deficiency which was paid by the taxpayers was $938.50. County Clerk Simpson in order to save this excess cost has devised a calendar which will serve for the entire year. One calendar will be printed and at each succeeding term of Supreme court that year a supplement will be printed showing what additional cases have been added to the original calendar. This system will eliminate the necessity of re-printing several hundred cases each of the four terms of court held during the year.

Two methods were suggested to eliminate this excess cost being levied on the taxpayers. One was to follow the method which had been adopted for the March calendar and the other was to increase the filing fee to cover the cost of printing. Last year the cost of printing was over four times the amount derived from filing fees and it was suggested that the filing fee could be increased from fifty cents to $2 to cover the printing fee.

However the simplified calendar was adopted and is now ready for the March term of Supreme court which convenes next Monday afternoon with Judge Russell presiding.

This calendar will remain the permanent calendar for the year and will be used at all four terms of Supreme court together with the supplements which will be issued at the May, October and December terms, showing cases disposed of and cases added during the year. New cases added will be numbered continuing on from No. 531 which is the last case on the March calendar.

Several other changes in the form of the calendar will be noted. Much of the information in the front of the book has been eliminated, including the court officers, the judge's name and the county. Officers who are a part of the court. Blank pages have been eliminated and four cases have been placed on each page with spaces provided to indicate the disposition of the case at each term of court during the year. Blank pages for entering the day calendars have been eliminated at the back of the book and the March calendar contains but 160 pages instead of some 200 as in former books. The pages have been increased about an inch in length to take care of the additional matter which appears on each page.

Although the new method will necessitate lawyers keeping the same calendar for all four terms of court held during the year, it is expected to reduce the cost of printing supreme court calendars to a great extent and eliminate or reduce the amount which the taxpayers will have to contribute toward the deficiency caused by printing cases for litigation in civil actions who thus far have failed to pay the cost of printing their cases.

Some attorneys have expressed dissatisfaction over the new type of calendar but the decrease in the cost to the taxpayer may eliminate this objection or it may result in an increased fee for filing, which will place the cost on the parties bringing civil actions rather than on the taxpayer who has little interest in the hundreds of civil actions which are brought each year.

Compensation Hearing.

Referee Frederick A. Hoyt is scheduled to hold hearings at the court house at 9 a. m. Friday, March 3, in compensation cases.

Legislature Studies Minimum Wage Bill To End Exploitation

Governor Requests Action to Safeguard Industry and Protect Women and Children—Found $6 a Week Wage.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 28 (AP).—Acting at the request of Governor Lehman, the Legislature today is considering a minimum wage bill offered as a safeguard to industry and to protect women and children from exploitation.

The measure was introduced last night a few minutes after the New York governor sent in a special message. In this he said there was "overwhelming evidence" that women and children are being exploited by "some shortsighted and selfish employers."

"Instances have come to my attention," the governor said, "of the payment to women of wages as low as $4 for a full work week."

He said determination of bottom wages was needed to avoid the "downward spiral of lower wages, lower prices, lower purchasing power and higher unemployment."

A wage board of nine members representing employers, employees and the public is proposed in the bill which was introduced in the Senate by John J. Dunnigan, Democratic leader.

It is proposed to give the board power to determine a minimum "fair wage" for women and minors. A director would be empowered to publish names of employers who ignore his orders. Wage investigations might be made on application of 50 citizens.

The measure was also introduced in the Assembly.

Governor Lehman said he believed other states would follow the lead of New York in minimum wage legislation.

Sue Mellon And Two For $220,000,000

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP).—Andrew W. Mellon and two of his former treasury associates have been named defendants in a $220,000,000 civil suit—the largest ever filed in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

The suit charges conspiracy with officers of unidentified foreign steamship companies to evade payment of income taxes.

Besides Mellon, ambassador to Great Britain and former secretary of the treasury, David H. Blair, one-time commissioner of internal revenue, and Alexander W. Gregg, former acting general counsel of the revenue bureau, were named defendants.

The suit was filed by David A. Olson, who resigned recently as a stock market investigator for the senate banking committee after charging that he had not been given a free hand.

Mellon was accused in the suit of not only failing to collect $100,000,000 in delinquent taxes from the steamship lines but with placing the government in such a position it was forced to refund some $10,000,000.

The suit also asks interest on the $220,000,000 which would bring the total damages up to many more millions.

LITTLE ROCK BANKS RESTRICT WITHDRAWALS

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 28 (AP).—Restrictions of withdrawals to five per cent or $15, depending on which is the larger, was announced effective immediately for all banks of Little Rock and North Little Rock today.

The announcement came shortly after midnight from the Little Rock Clearing House Association and State Bank Commissioner Marion Wasson. Banks throughout the state were given permission by the bank commissioner and governor to take the same action under a bill which Governor Fittrell signed yesterday.

Bank Commissioner Wasson said banks of a number of other Arkansas cities, including Hot Springs, had indicated they planned to take action similar to that in Little Rock.

HITLER BANS LEFTIST PRESS, ARRESTED 100

Berlin, Feb. 28 (AP).—The Hitler government today prohibited publication of the entire Leftist press and also ordered the arrest of the 100 Communist members of the last Parliament.

With Reichstag and Prussian Diet elections five days off, both orders were regarded as forerunners to the outlawing of the Communist party. They followed swiftly upon partial destruction of the massive half-century old Reichstag building by a fire started by an alleged Dutch Communist last night.

Chinese Jubilant As They Halt Jap Drive Toward City Of Jehol

(By The Associated Press)

A reinforced Japanese army captured Shamaoshan, important pass into Jehol province from the south-east, today after a terrific two-day battle. The Japanese were directed toward Lingyuan, another pass on the main line of the Chinese defense.

Meanwhile Chinese were jubilant, claiming another Japanese offensive which had swept through Peipiao and Chaoyang, failed in an attack on Lingyuan and was turned northward, away from its objective. Once Lingyuan falls, the Japanese have command of a 75-mile highway leading straight to Jehol City, the capital.

Another Japanese force sweeping down from the far north expected to occupy Chihfeng, communication and transportation center of Jehol, tomorrow. This is the northern pass to Jehol City, 32 miles distant. Japanese reports said their column was 26 miles northeast of Chihfeng at 10 a. m.

The Chinese reported they were successfully defending Taniao, on the defense line between Lingyuan and Chihfeng, against heavy bombardment and contended the Japanese army of the north was being slowed up by bitter weather and road conditions.

A British embargo on arms shipments to China and Japan caused Great Britain to momentarily replace the United States in the role of "villain" in Japan. The action was regretted in China, where it was said Japan already was well provided, and an arms embargo against the "aggressor nation" only was urged.

Japanese officials admitted the British embargo would handicap China rather than Japan but, nevertheless, keenly resented it.

Truck Registration Time Extended

State Capitol, Albany, N. Y., Feb. 28 (AP).—The Assembly today passed unanimously the Kernan bill extending the time for the payment of truck registration fees to April 1.

The bill was passed by the Senate last night and now goes to Governor Lehman for his signature.

The bill was advanced upon a motion by Assemblyman Russell G. Dunmore, Republican majority leader, without debate.

He remarked, however, that he saw a possibility that the legislature might adjourn without modifying the present law to give relief to small truck owners.

The measure, extending the time for truck registration, embodied the recommendation of Governor Lehman for a thirty day postponement so that the legislature could have more time to study the law which was to become effective tomorrow, providing for a 65 per cent surtax on trucks.

ROOSEVELT CHOOSES WALSH FOR CABINET

Hyde Park, N. Y., Feb. 28 (AP).—President-elect Roosevelt today announced appointment of Thomas J. Walsh of Montana as his attorney general.

It was Senator Walsh who prosecuted the senate's inquiry into the naval oil reserve leases that sent Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the Interior, to jail. The selection of Walsh left only two more names to be announced for the Roosevelt cabinet.

It is expected Roosevelt will fill the official list before tomorrow with the announcements of Miss Frances Perkins, of New York, for secretary of labor and Daniel C. Roper of South Carolina for secretary of commerce.

REAR ADMIRAL STEWART DEAD AT SOUTH ORANGE

South Orange, N. J., Feb. 28 (AP).—Rear Admiral Edwin Stewart, United States navy, retired, died today at his home. He was 95 years old.

Burial will be in Arlington cemetery Thursday.

Until recently, the admiral had been in good health for his years. Three sons, William E. Stewart, of Newark; Donald S. Stewart, of New York; and Commander Laurence S. Stewart, survive.

KINGSTON AGENTS MADE TWO MORE ARRESTS MONDAY

Acting under warrants officers from the Kingston prohibition office made two arrests Monday. At the Iroquois Casino, Hortonville, they arrested James Gorr and seized alleged alcohol, apple and rice whiskey, gin, wine and beer. At the Western Hotel, Callicoon, Henry C. Ward was arrested and alleged whiskey, gin and beer seized. The defendants were held for arraignment before Commissioner Northrop in Newburgh today, on charges of possession.

Parachute Falls

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 28 (AP).—Stuart Chadwick, chief test pilot for the Bellanca Aircraft Corporation at New Castle, plunged 1,500 feet to his death today because his parachute failed to open during a leap from a new "mystery plane."

Emergency Work Relief to Start Boulevard Project

Louis A. Bower Accepts Proposition of City to Pay Him $2,750 for Land Needed—City to Move Bower House and Gas Station—Bower Originally Wanted $7,000, and Mayor Carey Had Offered $4,500, Later Withdrawing Offer.

With the signing by the board of public works of an agreement to pay Louis A. Bower for a parcel of his land on the Boulevard which is to be used in straightening out the Boulevard, the board paved the way for the starting of the Boulevard project this week. The work has been delayed since last November because Mr. Bower and the city could not agree on price. The agreement signed today requires the city to relocate the Bower gas station and to dismantle and rebuild a six room bungalow that stands on the land to be used for the road. The price paid by the city for the land is to be $2,750. Originally Mr. Bower asked $7,000, and filed a claim for that amount, and the city through Mayor Carey had offered $4,500, but later withdrew the offer.

Martial Law Under Police Decided on By German Cabinet

Communists Blamed for Fire Damaging Reichstag Building by Wilhelm Goerring—State of Emergency Declared.

Berlin, Feb. 28 (AP).—Virtual martial law under police regime was decided upon by the German cabinet today.

The cabinet, which had been in session since 11:00 a. m., adjourned at 2:30 p. m., until 5:00 p. m. It had heard a report from Wilhelm Goerring, minister without portfolio, upon the fire which damaged the Reichstag building yesterday and the result of a raid last week by police on Karl Liebknecht House, Communist headquarters on Bulowplatz.

A military state of emergency was refrained from in order to keep the Reichswehr (standing army) out of political action, but the measures to be decreed will have the effect of placing Germany under a state of emergency with the sole object of meeting Communist danger.

Herr Goerring reported that material seized in Karl Liebknecht House included the forged orders to the police and to Nazi storm troopers and even included instructions for poisoning wells and food.

According to the testimony of two men who were arrested, they telephoned yesterday evening to the Socialist organ Vorwarts at the request of this paper that Herr Goerring himself had arranged for the Reichstag fire.

Fraternization of the decree was decided upon after Wilhelm Goerring, cabinet minister without portfolio, had reported both on the fire which damaged the Reichstag building and the result of a raid on the Karl Liebknecht House. (Karl Liebknecht House, on Bulowplatz, was raided last week by German police.)

Herr Goerring stated it was certain that Communist leaders were directly connected with the Reichstag fire.

With the signing of the agreement Mr. Flanagan advised M. H. Herzog, president of the emergency work relief committee, who was also present at the meeting that work relief men could be placed at work on the proposed project at once.

The board after signing the agreement voted to ask the common council to appropriate the sum of $1,550 to pay Mr. Bower for the land. This money has to be paid him by March 8, the day following the council meeting.

Mr. Herzog stated that the Boulevard project would be started at once, and that there would be no further delay in the matter.

It was stated at the meeting that it was expected that Mayor Carey would be able to leave the hospital on Saturday or Sunday, but that he would be confined to his home for some time yet. For that reason the board decided to hold open the matter of holding a conference with the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation on the question of lower costs for street lighting until the mayor was able to attend the conference.

Another matter tabled until the mayor is able to be out was the request of the property owners on Manor avenue asking that a hearing be held on the assessments made against their properties by the construction of the new sewer in that street. The property owners claim the assessments were excessive.

The board decided to make a tour of the city Friday afternoon to see where it would be necessary to erect street signs.

The sum of $650 was appropriated to purchase material needed in the construction of a pavilion and rest house at Hasbrouck Park. The building will be constructed by the emergency work relief.

The board voted in favor of purchasing a Ferguson rain gauge for the sum of $210.

Under the terms of the agreement the board signed this morning the emergency work relief men can go on the Bower property and start work getting ready to construct the new road. The deed to the city of the property will be held in one of the banks until all the conditions in it are filed by the city.

Several routine matters were disposed of and bills audited and the board then adjourned.

SEPARATION ACTION IS CHANGED TO ULSER

Application made by defendant for a change of venue from Queens county to Ulster county has been granted in the separation action brought by Alice L. Elwyn against Leslie Elwyn of Woodstock. Andrew J. Cook, who appears for defendant, Leslie Elwyn, moved in Queens county to have the trial of the action changed to Ulster county. The application has been granted. Herbert A. Sherrell appears for plaintiff. The transfer from Queens county to Ulster county was granted on the grounds of convenience of witnesses.

Study How to Cut Budget $10,000,000

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 28 (AP).—A new date was to be set today for the conference of Assembly Republicans to determine how Governor Lehman's budget can be cut by $10,000,000, as some Republican leaders say it can.

Speaker Joseph A. McGinnis, cold prompted Republican leaders to put off a scheduled conference last night rather than put him to the strain of a long caucus.

Charged With Assault

August Microp, 25, of Connelly, was arrested by Sergeant Cunningham and Trooper Metzger and committed to the Ulster county jail to await a hearing before Justice Everett Soper of Ulster Park on a charge of assault in the third degree. Microp was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Catherine Schick that he had assaulted his wife, Mrs. Helen Microp, who is said to be ill and under the doctor's care.

Rome—Filippo Tommaso Marinetti, author famed as the father of futurism, has tried something new—a book printed on tin.

It is entitled "Words On The Liberty of Futurism as Regards Touch, Heat and Smell." "Liberty," says the author, "is too sacred a word to be printed on paper. It demands a metallic elasticity."

The pages are of very light, bendable white tin. The printer is in black. Illustrations are in brilliant tints.

The Nerve of Him

Chicago—Miss Pauline Stahl, re-employee, has so much nerve a hold-up man took out time to compliment her.

"Lie on the floor," he commanded. "What, and pull my nice clean dress," she replied. "I should say not."

"You've got a lot of nerve sister," the robber declared, admiringly. He took $15.

Roosevelt's Friend Ambassador to U. S.

Paris, Feb. 28 (AP).—Andre Lauro De La Boulaye, personal friend of President-elect Roosevelt, will be named ambassador to Washington to succeed Paul Claudel, it was learned in semi-official quarters today.

M. La Boulaye was selected, according to sources, especially to carry on negotiations for a new debt agreement with the United States.

An official announcement was expected after the Roosevelt inauguration on Saturday.

At the foreign office it was said the matter could not be discussed at present.

M. La Boulaye made the acquaintance of Mr. Roosevelt as first secretary of the embassy at Washington during the Wilson administration, when Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy.

They have maintained their friendship since then. When Mr. Roosevelt was in Paris a year ago, he was entertained by Mr. La Boulaye. The latter is an assistant director in the foreign affairs ministry at present.

Believe Man Victim Of Hit-Run Driver

Alfred Dutcher of Allaben died early this morning at the Kingston Hospital, about a half hour after being admitted, from injuries received evidently at the hands of a hit and run driver. He was found along the state highway by State Trooper Dunn at Allaben suffering from severe injuries about the head and body. An automobile cushion and a flashlight were found nearby.

Trooper Dunn brought the injured man to the hospital where Dr. Shaker treated him and made every effort to bring him to consciousness. However he died before gaining consciousness. The matter was reported to Coroner W. N. Conner and an autopsy was ordered. The autopsy was performed today. An investigation was under way by Trooper Dunn.

The remains were turned over to Undertaker H. Lee Brethaupt of Phoenix.

Mrs. Williams Is Found Dead

Aged Woman Who Resided Alone Had Told Neighbor If Her Shades Were Still Down on Windows at 11 A. M. to Investigate—Found Lying on Floor.

Mrs. Emily Patterson Williams, an elderly woman who resided alone at 104 Hasbrouck avenue, was found dead on the floor of her kitchen at noon today. Mrs. Williams had evidently expected that some day she would be suddenly stricken and some time ago had asked Mrs. Elizabeth Doolin, who resides across the street, that if she found the window shades still drawn at 11 o'clock in the morning of any day to promptly make an investigation.

This morning when Mrs. Doolin looked across the street it was found that the shades were still drawn at 11 o'clock, and that fact led to an investigation being made. The police department was called and Officers Stout and Bowers were sent to the house.

Entrance was obtained and when the investigators entered the house it was to find the lights still lit and Mrs. Williams lying on the floor in the kitchen fully dressed. She lay on her back. It is thought that Monday evening after she had lighted the lights she had been suddenly stricken with a heart attack and fallen to the floor dead. She lay on the floor near the kitchen table and had a shawl thrown around her shoulders.

The police called Coroner W. Norman Conner, who turned the body over to Jensen & Deegan, undertakers, as Mrs. Williams some time ago had made arrangements for that firm to have charge of her funeral in the event of her death. She had also left written instructions with friends as to the sort of funeral she desired and what clothes she desired to wear.

Mrs. Williams was born at Hurley, and was widely known some years ago as a school teacher in the schools here and also in Porto Rico.

The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Jensen & Deegan, where it is being held awaiting the arrival of relatives to arrange for the time of the funeral.

Al Smith Outlines Plans to Improve National Situation

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP).—Straight from the shoulder counsel from Alfred E. Smith to the Senate finance committee today embraced recommendations for a federal bond issue to finance enlarged public construction, a war debt moratorium aimed to expand American foreign markets, and recognition of Soviet Russia.

He was out to help the committee in its search for ways and means to improve the national situation, and he let his hearers know at the outset his opposition to inflationary schemes.

Adverting to the prohibition repeal resolution now before the states, he opposed Congress fixing the manner for states to call conventions to act on the amendment.

"Assume that 15 or 20 states wouldn't call conventions," asked Senator Barkley (D., Ky.), "would you leave it up to the states?" replied Smith.

"I don't believe inflation will help us at all," said the 1928 Democratic presidential nominee.

"It is just like giving a sick man a shot in the arm. It will take a stiffer shot the next time."

A consolidated transportation system under Federal regulation and with a national secretary for transportation was another Smith proposal. He was a member of the National Transportation Committee that has been surveying the railroad field.

Addressing the Senators in his direct way, with a good natured aside now and again, he declared a condition akin to war confronts the country.

"Cut out all this red tape," he advised, "and go back and build buildings like we did cantonnments—overnight."

Again he urged that Reconstruction Corporation interest rates on construction loans be cut to four percent; and especially called for speeding up of highway work.

Rush Appropriation Bills In Senate

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP).—The jam of appropriation bills was attacked by the Senate today in a drive to sweep the boards clear of these urgent measures before adjournment Saturday.

Passage of a sweeping bankruptcy relief bill last night paved the way for consideration of the money bills to run government departments.

Meanwhile, Senate and House conferees strove to reach agreement on five appropriation bills now in conference. Unless a break comes soon some may be forced over into the special session.

The House has formally considered all appropriation measures and today worked on a variety of legislation to dispose of odds and ends before Saturday noon when the new administration takes over.

The bankruptcy bill passed by the Senate last night sets up machinery under which individuals can obtain extensions or cash settlements and railroads can readjust their capital structures to avoid receiverships.

The bill, sponsored by Senator Hastings (R., Del.) was sent to the House which also has approved a bankruptcy revision bill, but one which differs in many respects. The two proposals will be sent to conference in the hope of composing the differences before adjournment.

Triangle Club Meets Tonight

The members of the Kingston Triangle Club will enjoy a special and very attractive musical program at their meeting this evening at the Y. M. C. A. when they will be entertained by several selections by a male quartet.

There will also be several other surprise features on the program as the officers are planning for an exceptionally attractive meeting to end the month of February, and urge every member to be present.

A fine speaker has also been obtained who will speak upon a very popular subject.

ACTIVITIES AT RONDOUT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The last of the series of church family suppers and study hours of the winter will be held Thursday evening in the chapel of Rondout Presbyterian Church. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock and followed by the study hour. The supper committee is under the leadership of Mrs. Louis Beeres and Mrs. I. W. Scott. Thursday afternoon the ladies of the church will hold a quilting party in the chapel.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. James N. Armstrong, Jr., will hold a Lenten class at 4:30 o'clock. All the young people are urged to unite with the class.

The March meeting of the Men's Club will be held in the chapel on Penitential office at 10 a. m. and evening service at 7:45 p. m.

531 Cases on Supreme Court Calendar Here

Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock County Clerk Simpson will call the cases appearing on the March supreme court calendar for marking under Rule 2, of the court. Cases marked ready by both parties will make up the ready calendar which will be taken up Monday afternoon by Judge Russell who will preside at the trial term which will be convened at that time. There are 531 cases on the calendar.

SWEET SINGER ALSO TELLS DROLL STORIES

Shokan, Feb. 28.—Joseph DeWitt, the philosopher of Cool Breeze Farm, made one of his periodic trips to the village center last Saturday. "Joe" while at the post office entertained a few of his many friends with choice vocal selections, lifted from his inexhaustible repertoire and sung in a rich baritone for which he has long been justly famed. Mr. DeWitt upon this occasion also drew liberally from his thousand and one droll stories, being another of his "lines" which never fail to delight local audiences.

Will of Susan Kless, who died in Flatbush February 15, admitted to probate upon petition of Fred L. Kless of Union, N. J., son, the executor named in the will. There is an estate valued at not to exceed $10,000 and personal of not more than $5,000. Raymond G. Cox is attorney. To Flatbush Cemetery Association is left $100 for care of the grave. The remainder of the estate is divided between the two sons, Fred L. Kless of Union, N. J., and Fred L. Kless of Union, N. J.

The will of Elmer Countryman, who died in Flatbush December 24, 1928, admitted to probate, following the hearing by Surrogate Kaufman on objections filed by Charles Countryman of Wallkill, a son. The executor is Isaac Barnhart of Yager, and the estate is given at not to exceed $1,000 real or more than $500 personal. Clarence A. Barnhart is the attorney. To the Yager family is left $25 and $200 left as a fund for funeral expenses of another son, Preston, who is in a Napanoch Institution for Mental Defectives. A brother, Henry Countryman, receives $200 and the remainder of the estate is left to the following friends and neighbors: Mary H. McComb, $100; Frederick H. McComb, $100; remainder to Isaac Barnhart.

The National Cister County Bank and Trust Company is executor under the will of Gideon L. Keator, recently admitted to probate. Testator died in the town of Marlborough January 12, leaving an estate valued at less than $5,000 real and exceeding $5,000 personal. William H. Keator is the attorney. Use of the real property is given to Anna Stratton and Blanche Fox for life; they also receive the income (and principal if necessary) from the personal estate. The residuary estate is to be divided: To Mrs. Thomas Tillson, Walden, Mahogany table, rest of the estate to Mrs. Uriah Wood, Whitfield; Mrs. William Becker, Beacon; Mrs. Matthew Pratt, Germantown, N. Y.; Mrs. Anna Terpening, Malden; Mrs. Lemuel Krum, Miss Grace Krum, Miss Julia Winchell, Lomontville; John J. Winchell, Walden; Elmore Krum, widow, is the executrix and sole beneficiary under the will of Otis Krum, who died in Flatbush November 24. The will, executed in 1912 and recently admitted to probate, disposes of an estate valued at not to exceed $10,000 personal and real property of not more than $10,000. V. B. Van Wagoner is the attorney.

Will of Pauline Gruner, who died in the town of Lloyd November 20, admitted to probate upon petition of Theodore and William Gruner of The Bronx, sons, who are named executors. There is real estate valued at $5,000, subject to a mortgage and personal of not to exceed $1,000. A trust of $500 is left. Income to son Charles for life and principal to pay his funeral expenses. Provision is made for a monument, to cost not more than $250, to be erected to Highland cemetery and there is a bequest of $200 to son William R. The remainder of the estate is to be divided among the children—Joseph, Theodore, Maximilian, Frank, Albert, William R. and Louis Gruner, Emily Schaefer, Pauline Gruner, Bertha Gruner, S. G. Carpenter is the attorney.

ENJOYABLE ENTERTAINMENT HELD AT FLATBUSH

The entertainment given at the T. X. Club House at Flatbush Friday, February 24, under the auspices of the Home Bureau was enjoyed by all present. The program was opened with a play entitled "California, California," given by the members of the Home Bureau, and was written by Howard A. Lewis. The cast of characters were: Mrs. Young, Mrs. C. Duckert; Mrs. Ward, Mrs. F. Kukuk; Mrs. Austin, Mrs. G. Brown; Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. A. Pelen; Roberta Pratt, Mrs. E. Saulpaugh; Miss Edwards, Mrs. G. Rider; Miss Bartlett, Mrs. H. Durling; Harold Gilbert, H. Durling.

After the play, Miss Nance and Mrs. Lewis sang and danced a number entitled "No, No, John," which delighted the audience, and Miss Nance responded to the encore with a song and Mrs. Lewis a dance. A minstrel was then given by the young folks, which was very much enjoyed by all. Those taking part were: Mrs. Ralph Lyons, pianist; Vernon Halwick, master of ceremonies; Ralph Lyons, Claude Pelen, Gwynne Thomas, Edward Snyder, Merton Davis, Edmund Osterhout, Miss Wilma Jones, Miss Virginia Edinger, Miss Beatrice Durling, Miss Virginia Wager.

The entertainment was then brought to a close with a number of selections of string music by the "Blue Ridge Rangers." Harold and Kenneth Pratt and Raymond Taylor. Ice cream and cake was then sold and the Blue Ridge Rangers furnished music for dancing.

Manner of Eating

All other creatures, except man, eat in much the same manner, with one eye on the food, and another on the rest of the world. Man alone manages to mix smiles with his dinner. He does this, first, because it is the custom; second, because it helps digestion; third, because it is fun, and fourth, because it stretches out the pleasant process to its ultimate length.

Decision Rendered In Unusual Will

executor, Stanley Wolcott Hayes, of Richmond, Indiana, to faithfully administer this will according to my obvious wishes.

The principal questions raised are as to the construction of paragraph II, III and V. To understand the precise nature of these questions it is necessary to refer briefly to the facts. After the death of Miss Hayes there were found in a safe deposit box in the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company at Boston bank books evidencing savings account deposits in various banks totaling $18,251.15. There was also a checking account in her name in the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company showing a balance of $278.31. In her home at West Park, N. Y., were found other bank books showing balances in other banks totaling $12,000.15.

It is urged in behalf of the Executor and by the Special Guardian that by paragraph II of her will the testatrix intended to set up a fund consisting of the proceeds of sale of her East Washington lots added to the amount of the bank deposits evidenced by the books in the safe deposit box at Boston and that by paragraph III she intended to set up another and separate fund consisting of the proceeds of sale of her Wellesley real property plus the $278.31 on deposit in the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company. It is then urged that the $12,000.15 represented by the bank books found at West Park was not included in either fund and that she must be held to have died intestate as to that fund and not having made any disposition in her will of the fund created by paragraph III she must also be declared to have died intestate as to that, thus leaving only the fund created under paragraph II to be distributed under paragraph V and its respective subdivisions.

Counsel for Arthur Garfield Hays on the contrary assert not only that these proposed constructions are in themselves fallacious, but that the ultimate result is not in any event affected, because under subdivision d of paragraph V, properly construed, Hays is entitled to take the entire residuary estate of the testatrix, into which these funds, if not otherwise disposed of, must of necessity fall. I am fully convinced that this last contention must be upheld.

Reading the will of the testatrix in the light of her personal history and activities and of her demonstrated proclivities and beliefs, there can be little doubt as to the purposes she had in mind. Ellen Hayes was an unusual woman. A more unusual of her will will convince the most skeptical of this fact. While she was highly educated, her convictions and beliefs, measured by present day standards, were radical. She associated with radicals and radical organizations. She espoused radical causes with almost fanatical fervor.

That provision of her will which requires that the only trustee at her funeral be the staging of the International is extremely significant. Her beliefs and activities as are heretofore stated, and the Free Thought, Progress, Ltd. and the Free Thought, Progress Association and her desire of her West Park property for the establishment of a school for Women Workers in industry. Miss Hayes was a free thinker of pronounced type. Her sympathies were with the masses, whom she believed to be victims of oppression and injustice. She believed that existing conditions were wrong and should be remedied. She not only had these convictions, but the courage of them. She acted as well as thought along these lines. She gave of her time and money to attempts to remedy these supposed wrongs. In the Sacco-Vanzetti disturbance at Boston, for instance, she marched before the State House with others of her kind and was arrested. Upon her trial she was defended by Arthur Garfield Hays. From that time on she seems to have reposed great confidence in Mr. Hays, to have believed his views to be similar or sympathetic to her own and to have regarded him as a champion of the cause she so earnestly espoused.

Whether these beliefs of the testatrix were right or wrong is for the purposes of this decision unimportant, but the facts that she held these convictions and believed them to be shared by Hays and that she placed such great confidence in Hays are extremely important in that they throw strong light upon the intent of the testatrix in making her will. I am fully convinced that the mind of the testatrix was so imbued with those radical ideas and that she so earnestly desired, so far as was within her power, to give them effect, that it was her intent by her will to devote the greater part of her estate to their furtherance. I believe that by subdivision d of paragraph V of her will Ellen Hayes intended to give not merely a small part of her estate but her entire residuary estate to Arthur Garfield Hays to be used in his discretion to advance the causes she so strenuously advocated, or, to quote her own words, "in promoting the ends of justice."

Not only is this construction justified by the language of the will itself, read in the light of the extrinsic facts, but it finds strong support in established rules of construction. The construction urged by the Executor and Special Guardian would result in intestacy as to a very large part of the decedent's estate. The construction adopted by the court makes the will a complete whole and avoids intestacy as to any part of the estate. As former Chief Judge Cardozo said in Waterman v. N. Y. Co., 237 N. Y. 232, 200, courts "struggle always to avoid intestacy." An interpretation that will produce intestacy as to any part of the estate, is to be avoided, if possible. (Weeks v. Weeks, 161 N. Y. 66, 71.) The fact of making a will in itself raises a very strong presumption against an expectation or desire on the part of the testatrix of leaving a portion of her estate undisposed of by her will. (Hadox v. Cody, 213 N. Y. 570, 572-3; Schult v. Moll, 132 N.

for over-taxed Throats

Y. 122, 127). This presumption against intestacy is very strong and is applied in all cases. (West v. West, 215 A. D. 255, 257, and cases cited.)

Abside from this presumption, however, the will itself shows that the testatrix believed that she had by it disposed of her entire estate. Not only the language of subdivision d of paragraph V but that of the clause whereby she appoints an Executor and requests him to "faithfully administer this my estate according to my obvious wishes" clearly indicate that the testatrix not only intended to dispose of but believed that she had disposed of her entire estate.

It is urged, however, that even conceding that sub-division d of paragraph V was intended to include as its subject the entire residuary estate of the testatrix, it must nevertheless fall because it creates an invalid trust. With this contention I cannot agree. In my opinion subdivision d of paragraph V does not create a trust at all, but on the contrary effects an outright gift of the residuary estate of the testatrix to Arthur Garfield Hays, imposing upon him a moral obligation to devote it to the purposes specified by the testatrix. This conclusion finds ample support in the decided cases. (Hild v. Merkle, 144 N. Y. 544; Matter of Abbe, 138 Misc. 210; Webster v. Gleizes, 251 N. Y. 554; Matter of Judge, 141 Misc. 254; Tillman v. Ogren, 227 N. Y. 490, 505; Matter of Steiner, 154 A. D. 168; Lawrence v. Cook, 104 N. Y. 632; Matter of Hoyt, 142 Misc. 344; Matter of Heli, 141 Misc. 720.)

The validity of paragraph IV of the will is also disputed. There can be little doubt as to the validity of the dispositions made by this paragraph, excepting the last wherein the testatrix bequeaths the Vineyard School for Women Workers in industry prior to the death of Louise Brown, the proceeds of sale of the West Park property shall pass into the hands of Baldwin, Ward and Hays, who shall make it a permanent fund from which only the interest shall be spent for such objects as they deem worthy. There is no present, compelling necessity for the construction of this part of the paragraph in the light of contingent future events that may never occur. In event the school is not incorporated before the death of Louise Brown, further application may be made to the Court for construction in view of the facts which then exist. Construing the remainder of the paragraph, there can be no doubt that a valid life estate in the West Park property vested in Louise Brown upon the death of the testatrix, and that in event of the incorporation of the Vineyard School prior to the death of Louise Brown a valid remainder will vest in the corporation so formed. It is so construed.

But one clause remains for interpretation. In subdivision a of paragraph V the testatrix says: "I desire my Executor, Stanley Wolcott Hayes, to administer two thousand dollars, ($2,000) to each of my sisters, Anna Hayes Hollister and Marquita Hayes Wallace, in payments of two hundred dollars ($200) each per annum per person." As indicated upon the argument, it is my opinion that under this clause the legacy of $2,000.00 to each of the sisters vests immediately, but that payment thereof is postponed to be made in annual installments of $200.00 each over a period of 10 years. It is so construed.

A decree constraining the will of the testatrix as above indicated is directed to be entered accordingly. Application for allowances may be made upon the settlement of the decree.

Tannersville Padlock Sought.
New York, Feb. 27.—(Special)—An application for a one year padlock for the restaurant and entire first floor of the establishment known as "St. James Restaurant," and located on Main street, Tannersville, was filed in federal court here this morning by Assistant United States Attorney Earle N. Bishopp. The complaint charges the place with sale and possession of liquor and maintaining a nuisance. Katherine Convery is said to be the proprietor of the restaurant and Bertha Fox is described as the owner of the real estate.

Why Cough All Night?

Keep This Quick, Sure
Relief By Your Bedside
And Sleep Peacefully

Don't spend wretched nights of sleeplessness because of a nasty persistent irritating cough, when swift and soothing relief is so simple with this new quick-acting cough remedy—STOP KOF.

The formula of this astonishingly effective remedy represents the active constituents of white pine, wild cherry, balsam-of-gilead buds, blood root, sassafras, yerbena santa and eucalyptus compounded into a syrup with sugar and honey.

STOP KOF acts instantly to loosen the germ-laden phlegm and clear the congested air passages, at the same time soothing the inflamed membranes in the throat. It is pleasant-tasting—children like it—and it is entirely harmless and free from narcotics. It won't upset the stomach or cause nausea.

You have no idea how quickly and surely coughs due to colds and hoarseness are relieved after taking a spoonful or two of STOP KOF. Get a bottle today at your druggist and see for yourself how effective it is.

Have you ever driven an Automatic Automobile?

THE sensation is almost incredible in these amazing new Studebakers. You find you have almost nothing to do but steer.

You even shift gears so easily, you half imagine there are no gears. You stop at the mere touch of your toe on the brake pedal—with Power Brakes, greatest engineering advance of the year! Practically everything that takes physical effort and mental strain in other cars is done automatically for you by twelve uncanny "mechanical brains."

In fact, these new Studebakers so effectively eliminate the human element from driving, they are certain to be the pattern for all other cars for years to come. They represent the utmost achievement of an engineering staff that is constantly doing more so that motorists will be required to do less!

Come, drive one of these automatic new Studebakers—even though you're not thinking of buying. You'll find that your present car, no matter how new, does not compare with them in driving ease and simplicity. No other cars in the world come anywhere near doing so much.

Nature protects baby's orange juice, but with milk it's a different story

... for Nature's protection of milk stops at the instant it leaves the cow

NATURE took good care of your baby's orange juice. Took care of its freshness, guarded it against exposure, by sealing the orange in a heavy skin. It doesn't matter how or where an orange is consumed—it's always protected.

But Nature intended milk should be consumed right where it was produced—without any exposure at all. She intended that milk should pass directly from one creature to another—without even meeting the open air. For that reason, Nature's protection of milk stops at the instant it leaves the cow. And at that same instant, for the sake of your baby, man must take over Nature's work of protection.

That is why, on our 48,000 farms, every member of the family has a real interest in seeing that our barns are always clean... our utensils—carefully sterilized after each milking... our milking methods sanitary... our milk carefully filtered... then kept clean and cool.

In addition to this care on our farms, our milk is processed in many ways which no one farmer or small group of farmers could provide. For example, at our collecting stations, every can of milk from every farm is inspected every day. We utterly reject any milk that, in violation of Nature's standards, gives evidence of unwholesome exposure. Such milk we refuse to sell at any price!

As a final safeguard the milk is properly pasteurized before delivery to you.

This protection costs much time, effort, and money. But the Dairyman's League provides it willingly—to earn your confidence and your business. For your benefit as well as our own we ask one question: DOES YOUR MILK HAVE THIS PROTECTION?

Our Pledge: We, the 48,000 farmers of the Dairyman's League, recognize a definite obligation to the public. Since milk is nature's most perfect food, we pledge ourselves, in the production of our milk, to do all within our power to safeguard its purity and quality.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL HELD ANNIVERSARY MEETING

Wichita Council, No. 125, celebrated its 25th anniversary at the lodge hall on Pine Grove avenue Friday night, February 23. There was a covered dish supper that was enjoyed by all. Games were played. There were also visiting guests. At a late hour the members departed for home with many pleasant memories of the meeting.

Rustle of Taffeta in Fashion Realm

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHAT'S this we hear? 'Tis the rustle and swirl of taffeta in the air. The whispering frolic of this sprightly silk will be heard on the avenues and boulevards, in smart restaurants at tea-time and during the formal dinner hour, and when the evening lights go on, its glamorous beauty will add romance to the festive scene. From the signs which flash across the style horizon, the coming is to be one of the biggest taffeta seasons we have known for a long, long time.

For evening, for afternoon, for general daytime wear, describes briefly in their order the three gowns here pictured. The tiny sketch in the oval is merely a suggestion as to how party frocks for the young girl are being "prettified" with frills and flurbles. Among the many chapters which taffeta will be writing in the book of fashion this spring and summer, there will be none more fascinating than that which has to do with frilly fluted and ruffled gowns which designers are now preparing for the younger set. These will flaunt crisp, fluted bows single and en suite. Not that all party frocks will be made up ornately, for quite a few jeune fille frocks will be styled with utmost simplicity even to the point of severity, depending upon "lines" for their success.

As to the other gowns pictured, a big bow tied at the waist at the back, hemline fullness, also the floor-length skirt are major points of interest in regard to the formal model shown to the left. Centered in the group is an afternoon gown. While in one sense of the word it may be said to be tailored, embodying, as it does, considerable neat stitching and introducing subtle pleats which preserve a modish slimness, yet it also boasts many intriguing dressmaker details. One message which this attractive model conveys is that the best-looking daytime dresses are often given a dainty feminine touch via the sheers of sheer organdie, lace, embroidery or net finishing about the neckline and sleeves.

The outfit to the right in the group is ever so smart and new, contrasting as it does, plain taffeta with plaid. The fact that it is styled with a cape is prophetic, for the cape theme is considered of utmost importance for spring. As to plaids and checks, their vogue will be outstanding during the coming months.

Not to be overlooked among taffeta fashions are the evening ensembles which top a dress of this crisp lively silk with a cunningly devised little jacket which most frequently fastens with a soft bow tie of some sort or other. The beauty of such a bolero or jacket is that it may be worn with other gowns as well, being particularly effective, as it contrasts chiffon or lace, or some other sheer weave.

TUNIC SOLVES MANY A DRESS PROBLEM

One suspects that the introduction, or rather the re-entry of the tunic at this time is one of the kindly gestures fashion is making to those of us who must make our last year's dresses serve another year. The tunic is a direct answer to the often perplexing question of how to lengthen a skirt—especially since many of the really smart tunics are quite as long as skirts used to be.

Not, of course, that every tunic dress is a left-over by any means, any more that every dress with contrasting sleeves is one that has been remodeled. The current ruling on sleeves is that they should either contrast or do something to attract attention—and most of them do.

Fashion, being so completely concerned in preserving the top-heavy silhouette, naturally has given up decorating skirts and is concentrating on above-the-belt trimmings. The exception to this is the tunic frock, which is likely as not, bordered at its tunic edge with fur, or with a ruche of some sort.

Taffeta Vogue Spreads to Hats and Accessories

The flair for taffeta is so insistent that milliners are creating some of their choicest hats of it. Nor does the favor for taffeta stop at that point, for all sorts of belts, scarves, and even handbags are being fashioned of it. Among smartest details there is none more definitely featured than the jaunty waistcoats of checked or plaid taffeta which will be worn with the new spring suits. Often the jacket or three-quarter coat of the suit is lined with the silk, the revers and a sprightly tied scarf furnishing a dash of color such as the new style curriculum calls for so insistently these days.

The fact that there is such a wide variety of taffetas shown makes the vogue all the more interesting. The smartest new item is matelasse taffeta. This puff-surfaced silk looks best made up very simply.

MATCH FOOTWEAR

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Fashion is more exacting than ever when it comes to selecting accessories with a view to matching or relating them to each other. This season, more than ever, footwear is made to enter into relation with scarfs, belts, gloves, hats and the blouse. The costume pictured answers to the call of the mode for color harmony among accessory details in that the blouse, the scarf and the shoes are all in an identical pale beige tone. A touch of red is added to the scarf and the dress itself is in navy blue. The handsome beige kid sandals are of newest design, stressing, as they do, the very latest cutout or perforated effect such as will be made a major theme in footwear design for spring and summer.

FASHIONS By ELEANOR GUNN

The Fez, the Paper Bag and the Hat With Flowers

The hat illustrated at upper left is a version of the paper bag crown of Schiaparelli's. It is of beige Italian straw cloth trimmed with hyacinth beading ribbon.

Next is another version of the fez, in navy rajah, a fabric featured by this house. It is draped to the side and caught by a gold ornament.

The third model is of more formal character. It exemplifies the manipulated brim rolled at side and front, in a stitched navy straw called "neige." The crown, narrow and oblong, and the bandeau are of velvet violets in light blue.

Straight It Is, If It Appears To Be

New York—The outstanding style message to be flashed by cable from the scene of the recent spring openings, was that the silhouette was much straighter. There was, however, repeated mention of incidental draperies. Sometimes they were placed at back, sometimes at the side and sometimes in the front as shown. It is a picturesque manner of handling drapery and one that is best adapted to evening clothes.

In these so called straight silhouettes one will discover that straight is a term not to be taken too literally for what produces a straight effect is often something quite the reverse—bias folds, bands and so on. As usual, Vionnet, the high priestess of this cut, continues to wield her scissors in the way characteristic of her and the despair of the rest of the world. Anyway, she, along with the others, gives us an impression of a straighter line and a waistline which is on the slide instead of being on the way up as so many false prophets predicted.

The lady of the illustration has her capelet and sleeve cut in one and worn with considerable dash. Fringe might be substituted for fur. If it happens that you have had your fill of fur, Fringe is "in" as you must know. Vionnet uses it differently—Vionnet would—she attaches it at both edges. She also likes shaded fringe.

In reviewing the models shown for the new season it is next to impossible to disassociate them from jeweled accessories. Jewelry has become a part of one's ensemble. The new jeweled ornaments, synthetic and otherwise, are expected to do something beside being ornamental. They hold draperies in place, control fullness at the neckline, provide a convenient slide or something of the sort.

CAPELET AND SLEEVE IN ONE

The draped capelet with one full sleeve is an accompaniment to this. Maggy Rouff drew worn in Park through a gunmetal buttonhole. This frock in lacquered satin has been much featured in this country.

Counselors Wins; To Play Brucks This Wednesday

St. Mary's Counselors romped to an 11-point victory over the Roamers Monday night, defeating them, 23-12. In a gingery contest that featured Herb Van Deusen, center, as the leading scorer with 10 points. All of the winners' points, except one, were scored from set pieces. Don Kelly accounted for the rest from the free throw line.

Their victory over the Roamers served to tune up the Counselors for Wednesday when they will travel to B. W. S. Hall, High Falls, to oppose Pete Bruck's All Stars in their regular weekly feature. Bruck signed the Counselors this morning.

For the past several weeks the Counselors have been after the Morgan Repealers, believing themselves to be a class with that club, and as Bruck has practically the same line-up as the opponents of the 15th Amendment the Scout directors will be able to see in just what class they sit playing against the Poultrymen.

The Counselors will play under one big handicap, however, as Herb Van Deusen, their center, is a member of the Stone Ridge quintet too and has chosen to perform with that club. The rest of the Kingston team's lineup will be the same as that which triumphed the Roamers, though, and every one of the players hopes to do his best of the season.

Fighting under the Stone Ridge banner will be Niles, Van Deusen and Kopp, forwards; Knoll, center; Merritt and Wood, guards.

Previous to the feature, scheduled for 8:45, there will be a girls' preliminary between the Stockens and Port Ewen, starting at 8 o'clock.

The box score of the Counselor-Roamer game follows:

Counselors	FG.	FT.	Tot.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. COULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

When the country's foremost sporting critics took a quick glance back over the ten-year whirl 1928-38, at our request, and came up with the results of a poll putting Bob Jones a notch above Babe Ruth, in a ranking list of the decade's heroes, they spilled a basket of arguments.

There can be very little difference between Jones and Ruth, in the last analysis, when the three main factors are taken into consideration, viz., performance, effect on sport, and effect on the public. Within their spheres, they were and Ruth still is dominating, with no successor in sight.

Golf galleries cannot be compared with baseball crowds, in size or in gate receipts, but this is only a circumstance. Jones drew the biggest galleries of all time, at home or abroad, just as Ruth has attracted more fans through the turnstiles than any other baseball player in history.

From the time he first won a national golf championship, in 1923, Jones never was without possession of at least one, up until the year he retired, with all the major trophies of this country and England in his possession. Ruth has had slumps and been beaten for home run honors within the past decade but none compares with him over the ten-year stretch. He staged a remarkable come-back and defied all who thought he was "through".

Golf felt the stimulation of Jones as it never had the achievements and personality of any other individual, just as baseball obtained a new lease on life after the war with the rise of Ruth as a slugger and popular idol.

Rates Nurmi Next

In the careers of no other heroes of American sport are the same factors as dominant as they were in the cases of Ruth and Jones.

Nurmi, in my mind, comes the closest of any other to being comparable with Jones and Ruth. His achievements stand without parallel. They are a monument to individual concentration and affected the entire sport of foot-racing as never before. Proportionately, too, Paavo was as great a gate attraction.

Dempsey's popular appeal overshadowed the fact that within the last ten years he was on the down-grade as a fighter. He reached his peak in 1923. He missed his one great opportunity in the seventh round at Chicago.

Tunney, a master craftsman of the ring, never enjoyed Dempsey's popularity and would not have profited so much but for his rival's more magnetic personality.

Helen Wills Moody and Tommy Hitchcock, in tennis, and polo, also stand out on all three counts. Not even Suzanne Lenglen in her prime dominated women's tennis as has the Californian, but Mrs. Moody's influence on the development of the game has never compared to that of William T. Tilden II.

As Bob Sensenderfer of the Philadelphia Bulletin points out: "Tilden has done much more to develop tennis than he has actually performed within the past ten years. He led his field only three of the years but his influence was felt throughout the period. He has done more than any other man ever to make tennis popular."

Praise For McCarthy

There were many more votes for Connie Mack and Miller Huggins, among the baseball managers, than for Joseph Vincent McCarthy, but Warren Brown of the Chicago Herald-Examiner cast his vote for "Marse Joe" with these remarks:

"He proved he is a great leader, with the Cubs, when he kept a lot of minor leaguers in the race. He built up the Yankees. He won pennants in both leagues and he has maintained an even keel in spite of the fact he had a problem with one club, in the person of Morphy, and one on the other, in the person of Ruth."

THREE BASKETBALL GAMES

FOR BENEFIT OF LIBRARY

Milton, Feb. 28.—Three basketball games were planned for the benefit of the Marlborough Free Library at a meeting of Lion's Club held at The Maple Inn, Milton, last Tuesday evening. One of the games will be between the team of the Marlborough Lion's Club and the Newburgh Lion's Club team. A second game will be played between the Marlborough High School girls' team and a team composed of alumni girls. The third game will be played by the Marlborough Wanderers and the Marlborough High School boys' team. The games will be played in the M. E. Church hall Friday evening, March 17. The next meeting of the Lion's Club will be held at the Shady Brook Lodge, Tuesday evening, March 7.

Latest News from The Baseball Front

Corat Gables, Fla., Feb. 28 (AP)—

Jack Quinn, ancient right hander of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has two excellent reasons for not participating in the Dodgers' spring training activities just now.

The first is that he hasn't signed a contract, hoping to induce the club to be worth more money than they've seen fit to offer him. The second is that he is suffering from a badly infected jaw that would incapacitate him even if he had come to terms.

Big Fight On

Avalon, Calif., Feb. 28 (AP)—The biggest duel for a regular job in the Chicago Cub infield—between Shortstops Mark Koenig and Bill Jurgens—was scheduled to start today.

Koenig, whose brilliant work was a big factor in winning the National League championship by the Cubs last year, arrived on Santa Catalina Island yesterday, and Jurgens, who today with the second squad, Jurgens held the job in 1932 until bullet wounds put him out of action. Later Koenig suffered an injury to his right wrist and Jurgens played through most of the world series.

The First Casualty

Los Angeles, Feb. 28 (AP)—The training season has barely begun but Travis Jackson, veteran shortstop, already has retained his title as the "hard luck champion" of the New York Giants.

Out practically all of last season with injuries to his knees, Jackson came to camp the other day with his underpinnings in excellent shape. Yesterday he failed to report for practice because of a cold in the head, thus becoming the first casualty of the Giant campaign.

Fonseca at Work

Pasadena, Calif., Feb. 28 (AP)—Manager Lew Fonseca already is at work on what he expects will be the Chicago White Sox infield.

The Sox pilot has lined himself up at first base, with Minter Hayes at second, Luke Appling at shortstop, and Jimmy Dykes, late of the Philadelphia Athletics, at third.

WRESTLING LAST NIGHT

Armory Fight Results

Substituting for Marty Meskon, Babe Lancaster of Middletown won a technical knockout over Tom White, Pittsfield, Mass., lightweight, in the feature bout at the armory Monday. Referee Bill Singer stopped the fight in the third round because of a cut over White's eye.

Trough, Kingston, outpointed George Holding of White Plains. Johnny Raymond, Flatbush, outpointed Ambrose Jaegers, Elmhurst. Mickey Raymond, Flatbush, defeated Battling Levinsky of Poughkeepsie. Kid Miller and Herbie Sleigh, both of Billy Buckman and Young Emery drew in an emergency bout.

Emerson, St. Remy, won over Johnny Donart of Ellenville in a match called "no contest" by the referee the second round. Tony Havershaw boxer, matched by Emerson, was not allowed to go by the club physician. The Bayuk Philadelphia Perfecto—also known as "Philadelphia Hand-made"—became America's largest-selling 10-cent brand for one simple reason. More smokers liked it than any other 10-cent cigar.

Today—these smokers are getting the same complete satisfaction from their Bayuk "Phillies" at just one-half the cost. That's because the quality of tobacco used in this fine cigar—at 5 cents—has not been changed.

This means that this cigar today contains the same fine Imported Sumatra wrapper—the same fine Havana and Domestic long-filler—the same ripe tobacco—as when millions gladly paid 10 cents for it.

You men who are still looking for a really good 5-cent cigar—try Bayuk "Phillies". Your dealer has a box on the counter.

BAYUK'S GUARANTEE

In 1929—a peak sales year—the Bayuk Philadelphia Perfecto (Familiarly known as "Philadelphia Hand-made") was the largest-selling 10-cent brand in America. Bayuk guarantees that this cigar today—at 5 cents—contains the same fine Imported Sumatra wrapper—the same fine Havana and Domestic long-filler—the same ripe tobacco.

Sun rises, 6:41; sets, 5:45.
Weather, Clear.

Weather Forecast.

The lowest temperature registered at the Kingston thermometer last night was 21 degrees. The highest point reached up until noon today was 42 degrees.

The Temperature.
Washington, Feb. 28.—Eastern New York: Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; probably snow flurries in north portion, but much change in temperature.
The wind at Albany at 8 a. m. was northwest; velocity 15 miles per hour.

Saw Herd of 15 Deer.

Shokan, Feb. 28.—William Tueling, well known woods and farmer, saw a herd of 15 deer in a field back of his house one day recently. This is one of those experiences that happen but once in a lifetime to the average mortal. Doubtless the deer had been forced out of their mountain retreat by a scarcity of food resulting from the heavy fall of snow. And there, by the way, is a good tip for deer hunters next fall: let them go if they can—by a big and storm, and the canny buck will just naturally gravitate toward the lower and more open country where a fellow can get a shot at one during the hunting season.

Poultry Business Is Profitable.

Shokan, Feb. 28.—Lewis Thiel, successful Main street poultryman, is getting eggs from his pedigreed Black Minorcas that weigh 62 lbs. to the case. Now there is a mark for some Ulster county egg producers to shoot at. "Lew" opines that he is doing as well in a financial way with his chickens, with eggs selling for a dollar a hundred, as he did several years ago when thirty cents a dozen was paid and feed cost $3.85 a hundred weight. Mr. Thiel deprecates the existing tendency to get out of the bottom dropping out of the egg market; the poultry business is profitable one, year in and year out, if handled properly, he declares.

Cafeteria Supper.

The Loyal Workers Class of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold a cafeteria supper on Wednesday evening, March 1, from 5 to 8 o'clock. The menu is as follows: Cold boiled ham, hot roast pork, mashed potatoes with gravy, baked beans, baked macaroni, potato salad, cabbage salad, devilled eggs, fruit salad, cottage cheese, scalloped salmon, rolls, cake, pie and coffee.

Seeking Uniform Size Apple Crate

The movement toward the use of a crate of uniform size for the marketing of apples initiated at the meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society at Kingston, January 25, is supported by Commissioner Charles H. Baldwin of the Department of Agriculture and Markets, and by D. Van Buren, director of the Bureau of Plant Industry of the department, has been named as chairman of a committee representing fruit grower organizations in New York, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, and Massachusetts to promote the plan. William H. Cole, of Amherst, Mass., is secretary of the committee.

"The practice of using field crates or similar containers as a final package in the marketing of apples has been spreading during the past two or three years," Commissioner Baldwin said, "and indications are that this movement will progress rapidly in the immediate future."

"Growers, handlers, and distributors have been in a position for some time to choose from a variety of sizes and shapes of crates. There has been much discussion of this situation, and as a result the New York State Horticultural Society invited representatives of other fruit grower organizations to meet with them at Springfield, Mass., on February 7, 1932, to discuss plans for the proposed movement. As a result of this meeting the New York and New England Committee for an Apple Crate was established."

In addition to Mr. Van Buren as chairman, the other New York State representatives were:

F. P. Hart, Red Hook Cold Storage Co., Red Hook; Lawrence Howard, Kinderhook; E. S. Hubbard, Ag. Market; Paul Judson, Kinderhook.

Representatives from other states are:

Massachusetts—Howard W. Atkins, W. H. Atkins, John Chandler, R. Critchett, N. W. Embury, M. F. Glover, G. H. Harris, R. E. Hies, E. Peck, H. A. Priest, D. W. Southworth.

Connecticut—R. K. Clapp, John Lyman, B. T. Peck, K. M. Platt, H. M. Rogers.

Vermont—J. W. Collins, W. A. Stalker.

New Hampshire—Alfred H. Sawyer.

It was the unanimous agreement of this committee that for the present at least the effort toward setting up of a uniform crate by voluntary action of growers would be a better plan in the promulgation of the movement than to attempt to obtain legislation, state or federal, establishing legal standards and regulations.

At the meeting at Springfield the following action was taken after discussion:

1. Recommendation that the approved apple crate for use in New York and New England be of 2,645 cubic inches net contents.

2. The cubic content of 2,645 cubic inches may be obtained by the use of any dimensions preferred by the grower, but the committee strongly recommended that the inside dimensions of the crate be 11 inches in height, 14 inches in width and 17 1/2 inches in length.

3. After considerable discussion of how this approved crate may be identified, it was recommended that the crate be marked "Approved Eastern Apple Crate—11 inches x 14 inches x 17 1/2 inches."

4. The notification of the membership of horticultural and pomological societies in New York and in the six New England States through their local organizations of the action of the committee and suggesting to them that they use this approved crate when marketing apples in this manner were recommended.

It was directed that notice of the action of the committee be sent to the directors of extension in the six New England States and in New York, to the Commissioners of Agriculture in the same state; to the trade associations of the box manufacturing industry; and to the trade associations of the apple distributing industry.

OUR DAILY PATTERNS

A Pleasing Little Frock For a Tiny Miss

7646. Printed voile in pink and white is pictured here. The bias binding at neck and yoke edges is of organdy. Taffeta, China silk, crepe and crepe de chine are also suggested for this model. Pink or blue crepe de chine, with the yoke portions embroidered is pleasing. White nainsook with veining or feather stitching is very dainty. The dress is gathered in back and front below yoke sections. The sleeve has raglan shoulder lines. It may be finished in short puff style as pictured in the large view, or in wrist length.

Designed in 4 sizes: 6 months, 1, 2 and 3 years. To make the dress for a 2 year size with wrist length sleeves, will require 1 1/2 yard of 35 inch material. With short sleeves 1 1/4 yard is required. To finish with bias binding at edge of neck, yoke, and sleeve bands—will require 2 yards 1 1/2 inch wide.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

At The Theatres

Today

Kingston: "The King's Vacation". George Arliss scores another personal triumph in this romantic story of a king who grew tired of being a puppet, and who leaves his throne to seek adventure and love in a land across the sea. The plot isn't new, but Mr. Arliss makes it convincingly realistic and entertaining. Patricia Ellis and Dick Powell are also featured members of the large cast. A drama with superb acting and direction, delightful bits of comedy, and a story that moves along at a merry clip throughout. Recommended to everybody.

Orpheum: "Pagan Lady" and "Outlaw Justice." Evelyn Brent and Conrad Nagel can be seen in the first double feature bill, while Jack Hoxie is the star of the second feature, a western thriller with Dorothy Gulliver.

Broadway: "Wild Horse Mesa." Zane Grey, whose books on the old west are vivid and alive with action, ought to be pleased with the manner in which this story has been adapted to the screen. In fact from the opening scene, there is almost too much action. For thrills, gunplay, and riding, this melodrama of the west leaves nothing to be desired. Randolph Scott, Sally Blane, Jim Thorpe and Fred Kohler are members of the cast.

Tomorrow

Kingston: Same.
Orpheum: "Molly and Me." Joe E. Brown supported by Betty Compson, goes through his peculiar antics in a romantic story of youthful love. Broadway: Same.

BLOOMINGTON.

Converted Anarchist At Redeemer Church

At the Ash Wednesday service of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock, the preacher will be the Rev. Cosimo Dell'Oso, pastor of Christ Italian Lutheran Church on the East Side, New York. Pastor Dell'Oso at one time was a strong anarchist, but Mr. Arliss makes it convincingly realistic and entertaining. Patricia Ellis and Dick Powell are also featured members of the large cast. A drama with superb acting and direction, delightful bits of comedy, and a story that moves along at a merry clip throughout. Recommended to everybody.

After the church service Pastor Dell'Oso will address the Ladies' Aid and Mission Society on his work in the East Side. At the church service he will deliver a Lenten sermon.

After this week the mid-week Lenten services will be held each Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock. The Lenten communion service will be held Sunday, March 5, at which time new members will be received. Sunday afternoon, March 5, the choir will sing at the Home for the Aged.
